

Station 12

Clearing talent through Station 12 is the means for production companies to abide by the Union Security provisions of the Guild's collective bargaining agreement and have knowledge that performers under contract are in good standing with the Guild. Station 12, which is a department within Membership, advises Casting Directors of the status of performers that the casting director has hired for SAG-signatory productions. Good Standing with respect to members of the Guild means that the member is paid current in his/her dues.
